Lower Payments on FHA Homes Available Now

By EDWARD COWAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Starting today, homes financed by FHA-insured loans can be purchased with lower down payments.

This reduction is one of the principal provisions of a $1,500,000 anti-recession housing bill signed into law Tuesday by President Eisenhower. The legislation is designed to speed the building of 200,000 homes this year and to create 500,000 new jobs.

Eisenhower gave his approval to the bill somewhat reluctantly. He conceded it will create new jobs, but said in an unusual message to Congress that it will also saddle the taxpayers with "a wholly unnecessary burden of up to one billion dollars" by forcing the government to assume obligation which rightfully belong to business.

John M. Dickerman, executive director of the National Association of Homebuilders, said the law could be of "tremendous benefit" to moderate-income families unable to buy homes because of tight credit.

Volume Titled Small
But Harold P. Braman, managing director of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, said: "The housing industry suddenly isn't going to sprout wings and save the economy just because the so-called emergency housing bill has been signed."

Braman said the volume of new credit provided by the measure is Continued on Page Three

WOULD BE FOLLY — Financier Bernard M. Baruch, testified before the Senate Finance Committee in Washington, warned that a Federal tax cut would be folly. Highway Bill Moves Closer to Passage

WASHINGTON (UP)—An anti-recession highway bill moved closer to final passage today with surprise quick approval by House-Senate negotiators of a controversial anti-billboard proviso.

The negotiators, members of a Senate-House conference committee, voted late Tuesday to accept the Senate's anti-billboard clause despite predictions of a sharp battle. They agreed on all other issues in dispute between House and Senate.

The compromise measure now much secure final House and Senate approval before being sent to the White House. It would pump $5,500,000,000 in federal and state funds into road building in the next two years and provide up to as many as half a million new jobs.

The House is scheduled to vote first on the compromise Thursday. If it approves, Senate concurrence by nightfall is expected. Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.), one of the House negotiators, told the United Press there will be considerable opposition to the bill board feature. But he predicted the House will approve the compromise rather than send it back to committee for further negotiation and delay passage until after the 10-day Easter congressional recess which starts Friday.

Sources disclosed that the three House Democrats on the conference committee voted to accept the Senate billboard proviso and the two House Republicans voted against it.

Kiwanis Told How DeAnn Got Job Done

When 45 families made up their mind to the DeAnn community, they turned that area into one of the most progressive rural sections of Arkansas.

They got things done that even amazed old-time settlers, won the district honors in the Rural Community Improvement contest, and now are awaiting the decision of judges for state-wide honors.

The many accomplishments of the DeAnn community was related to the Hope Kiwanis Club Tuesday by Irvin Burke. He cited facts, figures and also picture slides of the development that had taken place in the past 12 months.

Among some of the community projects were: Consolidation of Schools; health programs; road improvements; a clean-up campaign; expanded 4-H Club activities; home improvements; watermelon festival; expanded church activities; construction of six new broiler houses; land and pasture improvements; improved beef dairy stocks; parties for the youth sponsored by parents and Keep Arkansas Green.

Warning Again Sounded Against Any Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower sounded another warning today on cutting taxes.

The President told a news conference that we must stop and look very steadily at proposals to cut taxes. He said we must really make sure that we are right and that a tax cut would have a beneficial effect upon the economy in future years.

He was asked about New York financier Bernard M. Baruch's congressional testimony Tuesday that it would be "folly" to cut taxes. The President replied that he had known Baruch for 30 years, had a great respect for his opinions, and believed that they warranted serious consideration.

Central Defense Authority
In other news conference highlights, the President:

— Said his Defense Department reorganization plan, which he probably will submit to Congress Thursday, is based on the necessity of the defense secretary having central authority as to the size, composition and strategic planning of armed forces.

— Explained that despite his objections, he signed the anti-recession housing bill Tuesday because he believed its advantages outweighed the disadvantages.

— Said he decided against a unilateral suspension of nuclear tests because he didn't believe it would be for the good of the United States.

— Said he hadn't abandoned hope that Russia would change its attitude sufficiently so that there can be a constructive East-West summit meeting.

Cautions About Automation — Described as ridiculous a statement that a so-called palace guard was keeping from him information that he should have.

This was in connection with a statement made in a recent television interview by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.).

— Expressed the opinion that the industrial automation will be a good thing for the nation, but he cautioned that industry should not use it only for the purpose of throwing people out of work.

— Said he does not believe a large nuclear test device can be exploded secretly without detection by other countries.

— Vetted a suggestion that the Psychological Warfare Board be re-established in an effort to improve U.S. achievements in a propaganda battle with Russia.

But he conceded that it might be a good idea to have one official, possibly in the State Department, for that purpose.

— Said emphatically that he does not believe the nation can be put back on the road to economic recovery just by federal spending.

He said he would rather see more private spending instead.

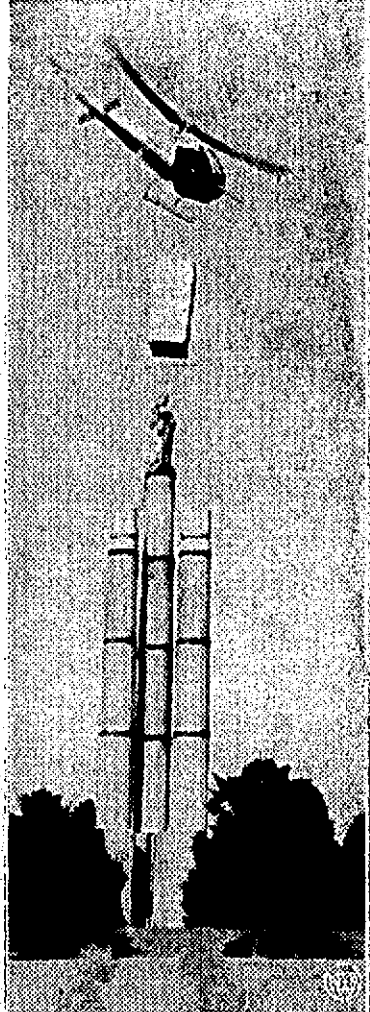

— Said he decided sometime ago when the matter was under consideration, against putting Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the head of an inter-governmental operating committee which sees that White House decisions are carried out by the various departments and agencies. He said it was decided that this would be impossible because of the vice president's statutory and constitutional responsibilities, however, the President said that Nixon had been given more opportunity than any other vice president he knew of to participate in executive department planning and decisions.

Episcopal Ministers Hold Meet

CROSSETT (UP)—The Episcopal ministers of the Diocese of Arkansas held their spring conference at St. Mark's church here April 2-10. It was announced today by P. F. Watzek, general chairman.

The conference was called by The Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown, D.D. of Little Rock, Bishop of the Diocese. He will preside at the meetings, devoted to a study of some area of religious life.

The featured visitor and lecturer will be The Very Rev. George M. Alexander, D.D., dean of the School of Theology at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn. His three lectures on pastoral theology will be followed by discussion periods.

Calls for Action on a Civilian Space Agency

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to create "at the earliest possible date" a new civilian agency to explore space.

It will be called the National Aeronautics and Space Agency. One of its jobs will be to develop craft "capable of carrying instruments, equipment, and living organisms into space."

The NASA will absorb the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the chief civilian agency now engaged in aeronautical and space flight research and development.

The President also asked creation of a national aeronautics space board to help the new agency, which would have wide powers under presidential direction to embark on scientific space projects.

Pending creation of the new agency the President said he has approved an interim program calling for "the launching of a number of unmanned space vehicles under the direction of the advanced research projects agency of the Department of Defense."

This new agency will take over some of these projects when it is formed, the President said.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said proposed legislation creating the NASA is being sent to Congress today.

In calling for a civilian agency to handle space projects not specifically assigned to the military, the President said this "will emphasize the concern of our nation that outer space be devoted to peaceful and scientific purposes."

The President stressed that the new agency's space program "must be given high priority" and "adequate financial support." He said he will send Congress a money request later.

The President said the new agency would be headed by a director appointed by him and confirmed by the Senate.

The announcement came as the Senate Preparedness subcommittee postponed for one day scheduled hearings on U.S. progress in space and missile programs.

The subcommittee was to have heard from Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy. But the hearing was postponed until Thursday because of the death in Mississippi of Bob Hines, brother-in-law to Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), acting subcommittee chairman.

Stennis said in advance of the postponement that he doubted if any of the subcommittee members would press McElroy to disclose details of the administration's still-to-be-released plan for reorganizing the Defense Department.

McElroy said in a letter to Stennis that he doubted if any of the subcommittee members would press McElroy to disclose details of the administration's still-to-be-released plan for reorganizing the Defense Department.

Dog Racing Vote Set for May Ballot

HOT SPRINGS (UP)—The Garland county elections committee Tuesday set May 1 as the date for a county election on whether the Hot Springs Kennel Club can build a track between Benton and Hot Springs.

The club, which said it will build a $1,250,000 dog race track, if voters authorize it, put up $300 toward cost of the election.

R. Julian Glover, the elections committee chairman, said he plans to ask Attorney General Bruce Bennett to rule whether the majority of voters in the election or the majority of voters register must approve the dog track.

The chairman said the dog track is not clear in that point.

Moscow Test Gimmick Hit by President

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today denounced Moscow's unilateral halt in nuclear tests as a gimmick which should not be taken seriously.

The President said in his news conference that the United States itself had decided against a unilateral test ban at this time because action of that kind is merely a propaganda device.

In the contest of world problems nuclear testing is just a side issue, the President said, and the Soviet action knows his view is not a harsh opinion.

Speaking with emotion, the President rejected arguments that the United States is being only negative in world affairs.

Hopes for Summit Meeting
Just because you are firm you are not being negative, he said.

He then took a typewritten sheet of paper from his pocket and said it listed a series of serious and unilateral proposals made toward peace by the United States in the last 12 years.

The list included the Baruch plan of 1946 on atomic cooperation, and proposals for a realistic disarmament inspection procedure, for open-skies air and ground inspection, for peaceful use of outer space, for shifting nuclear weapons stocks to peaceful uses, for freedom of travel, and prohibition of the veto power in the United Nations.

Farm Housing Loan Increase Is Announced

An expanded farm housing loan program designed to speed up farm building construction and improvement as well as act as an additional anti-recession measure was announced today by W. M. Sparks, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor.

Now an owner of a farm in agricultural production on which the operator plans to produce at least $400 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may qualify for the 4 percent long-term housing loan provided that he meets other standard eligibility requirements.

Formerly, an eligible applicant had to own a farm that produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income.

Borrowers may use loan funds to build, improve, or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings, and to provide water for farmstead and household use. Mr. Sparks said that in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, and many other improvements to the home as well as to farm service buildings. While tenants and farm laborers are not eligible, the owner may borrow to do construction work or make improvements for them.

The loans are made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels. The interest rate is 4 percent and loans may be amortized over periods up to 43 years.

Lost Youth Just Went on a Hike

NATURAL DAM (UP)—Fifteen-year-old Gary Leonard Stewart, whose 34-hour absence caused a search by 150 soldiers, National Guardsmen, law enforcement officers and a helicopter, returned home late Tuesday saying "I just went on a hike."

The youth was found by four men as he neared his home here. They were part of the search party which spent Monday night in quest of the boy, who hadn't been seen since 7 a. m. Monday.

Gary told Sheriff Tom Wilbanks he packed instant coffee, a piece of ham, a tin cup, three overcoats, five pairs of blue jeans, three shirts and a blanket in a bedspread and set out on a camping trip.

He also took along a rifle and a double-bit ax.

He said he got lost as darkness fell so he put on the three pairs of blue jeans and the three overcoats, wrapped up in a blanket and lay on the ground.

"I didn't get much sleep," he said "I was scared."

Stewart said he started back home about 7 a. m. Monday and got lost several times before finding his way back home. He estimated he walked about 30 miles.

President Wants Money for Subs, Missiles, Planes

By UNITED PRESS

President Eisenhower asked Congress today for an extra $1,455,747,000 for defense spending starting July 1. This would push beyond 40 billion dollars proposed defense outlays for fiscal 1959.

The request, which Congress is expected to grant, also would help industries hurt by the recession. The added money would buy missiles, bombers and Polaris-firing submarines. It also would speed up and expand research and development programs.

Elsewhere in Congress:
Space: President Eisenhower asked Congress to create a new agency to carry out "high priority" space exploration programs.

It would be called the National Aeronautics and Space Agency and would have wide powers and "adequate financial support" to launch programs not specifically assigned to the military.

Highways: House leaders hinted they would delay passage of the multi-billion-dollar anti-recession highway bill because the Senate included a billboard control provision. The House fought down the provision originally.

FCC: George C. McConaughy told House investigators that congressmen bargued him with calls daily when he was chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. He was one of the last witnesses before the House subcommittee on legislative oversight as it prepared to wind up its investigation of alleged misconduct among FCC commissioners.

Baruch: Financier Bernard M. Baruch told a Senate committee that another increase in the 200-billion-dollar national debt ceiling "would be a most disastrous thing."

Justifying for the second day, he said that Congress should "postpone" spending programs, even though they may be desirable, to avoid increasing the limit.

Henry Dixon Jr., counsel for the National Association of Retail Grocers, urged Senate monopoly investigators to look into alleged monopolistic concentrations and fair trade practices violations in the food industry.

Foreign Aid: A spokesman for the AFL-CIO told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee it would be "the height of folly" to cut back the $3,000,000,000 foreign aid program while the domestic economy is slumping. He echoed President Eisenhower's words that the program involves many thousands of jobs on the home front.

A spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation told the committee that Congress could Continued on Page Three

Small College Player Makes All-American

TODAY'S SPURTRAIT

(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By BILL HENRY

United Press Sports Writer
STEEBENVILLE, Ohio (UP)—
He is a small college basketball player who has gained national recognition and acclaim.
He is sought by National Basketball Association teams to play professionally.

He is Jim Smith, 6-6 center of Steebenville's small college national championship team.
Smith led the Barons to a 24-1 record last season and gained the attention of numerous NBA scouts who would like to sign him for their club.

Sought by Knicks

According to one college official, the New York Knickerbockers will draft Smith in the first round of the annual player selections.

Smith said the Harlem GLOBEtrotters offered him $2,000 to make the annual tour with the College All-Stars. However, he said he decided to complete his education.

Hank Kuzma, Smith's coach, has no fears about his big star becoming even a bigger star in the pro ranks.

"Jim is one of the greatest clutch performers that I have ever seen," Kuzma said. "I've seen the best individuals since 1947 play in New York, Philadelphia and Kansas City, and Jim could hold his own in that fast company."

Smith earned his recognition the hard way at a small school with an enrollment slightly over 500.

The college, which is just across the Ohio River from Weirton,
W. Va., doesn't have a fieldhouse or gym of its own. The team works out wherever it can on high school floors in the area.

One of the gyms used to practice in last season, was so poorly lighted the team had to use a white ball.

514 Points

But none of this affected Smith.
He poured 514 points through the hoop in 25 games and pulled in 589 rebounds, almost half of the team's total rebounds for the season.

Smith blames himself for the one defeat the team suffered at the opening of the season. He said
"You know this is a Catholic school, and just before the game we lost, I ate meat. It was on Friday and we lost that night to Mount St. Marys."

Smith said his biggest thrill came in the small college championship in the first small school ratings by the United Press.

The following items were exhibited and the winners were:

Painters Go on Walkout at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—About 75 to 100 painters and another approximately 100 the workers and their helpers were not at work today in a dispute over pay raises.

W. H. Thomas, of Painters Local 424, said the situation is in "a state of suspension." He explained that the union and contractors have each made an offer, but no negotiations were underway at present. The contract of the painters and the settlers expired Monday night.

Thomas said the painters union wants 25 cents an hour increase over two years, with half of it effective immediately and the other half next April 1. The contractor wants to give 35 cents of the 25 cents increase now, and the rest in six months periods.

Thomas said he didn't think the painter would be out "but for a short time."

The tile workers are seeking 10 cents an hour increases for the next three years to give them an hourly pay of $3.25. The contractors want to pay 25 cents an hour, broken down to five cents every six months until the hourly pay of $3.20 is reached.

The tile helpers are seeking a contract recognizing them as semi-skilled labor.

Canada Will Act Against a Recession

MONTREAL (UP)—John Diefenbaker's progressive-conservative party had a national mandate today to launch a massive public works campaign against Canada's recession.

More than 6,420,000 voters answered Prime Minister Diefenbaker's plea for a "working majority" in the House of Commons by stinging a coast-to-coast demonstration of unprecedented political unity.

They gave the Tory government at least 211 out of 265 Commons seats, far exceeding the most optimistic Conservative Party estimate. The Liberals salvaged only some 45 seats.

Diefenbaker promised to convene Parliament "at the earliest possible date." When he dissolved the 23rd Parliament Feb. 1, he mentioned May 5 as the date for the next opening.

The popular vote—at last count, 6,402,613—was below expectations and failed to match the record 6½ million of last June. The Conservatives got 53-56 per cent of the total, the Liberals 34-36. A third party, the CCF, got 9-24, and the Social Credit Party

Local Automobile Salesman Receives His Award

W. L. TATE, (left) sales manager of Hope Auto Co. is being congratulated by Frank McLarty, general manager of the local firm, for receiving a new Thunderbird presented to him by Ford Motor Company. The award was for outstanding sales by Mr. Tate in a district contest during November and December 1957.

THE STORY: Tom Weber, who has been a notorious gunfighter called "Tom Fargo" for many years, returns home to find that cattle barons are making things tough for farmers in Lobo Valley. The cattlebarons are under the leadership of Mike Denver.

IX
When Tom Weber left Barker-Karpis, he was driving a buckboard loaded high with lumber, paint, food and supplies. A saddle was on the seat beside him.

It was late afternoon when he reached the ramshackle house on the old Weber farm. He climbed down from the buckboard and saw that Tate Hopkins's belongings still were outside the door where he had dumped them.

He unhitched the horse and turned them into the pole corral attached to the cave-in barn.

He lifted his saddle from the seat of the buckboard and then reaching for a box of groceries, saw that riders had turned in toward the house. He carried the groceries to the door, set down the box.

Tate Hopkins was climbing down from his horse. Paul Partridge sat a black gelding easily. "Hi, boy," Partridge called.

"So, you're Weber," said a third man. "I'm your neighbor, Pete Rawlins. This is my foreman, Ches Mainwaring. He pronounced it 'Mainwaring.' You know Paul and Tate. Tate tells me you threw him out in the middle of the night."

Weber said carefully, "Is this a visit or a fight?" Rawlins leaned heavily on his saddle pommel. "Paul tells me you and him came to town together."

"You might say we hummed together," Partridge chuckled. "Which reminds me, you won all my money today. That wasn't very friendly-like Weber."

"You've got a gun, Weber said pointedly. "You can take it away from me." He raised his hands a few inches, palms outward, to show that he was not wearing a gun.

Hopkins scowled. "He had a gun last night."

"Everybody's got a gun," Rawlins said. "Only sometimes they don't wear them."

Weber made no reply to that. Hopkins, assuming that Weber was properly cowed, moved forward to get his possessions lying beside the door. He saw the box of groceries. Grinning, he grabbed the box, opened it so that the groceries spilled on the doorstep and onto the ground. He dumped his clothes into the box.

"All right, if I take this box," he snarled at Weber.

"Help yourself," said Weber. He walked forward carelessly and without warning smashed Hopkins in the face with his fist. Hopkins fell heavily, the content of clothes spilling over him.

For a moment he lay stunned, then he let out a roar and struggled to his feet. "I'll kill you for that!"

He threw himself at Weber, who sidestepped and hit him high on the side of the head. Hopkins gasped and almost fell. He shook his head and moved in on Weber once more.

Weber took the blow on his arm and crossed with his right leg, caught Hopkins squarely on the Red Jones Files for Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Auditor Jimmy Red Jones filed today for re-election in the coming Democratic primary.

He issued a short statement in conjunction with the filing in which he said he would continue to give the same service as he has in his first term.

"I have strived to give the best, most efficient and complete service possible and shall do so at all times in the future," Jones said. Jones, 58, was born and reared in Magnolia.

Anti-recession Moves Frowned on by Ike

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has signalled his lieutenants in Congress to blow the whistle on the Democratic anti-recession plunge, a highly-placed Republican said today.

This source said the President passed the word at his weekly meeting with GCP congressional leaders at the White House Tuesday.

The President felt anti-recession measures were not getting adequate consideration, the source reported.

Block Early Moves
Taking the cue, Senate Republicans Tuesday successfully blocked plans of the Democratic leadership to pass a billion-dollar public works bill before the congressional Easter recess begins Friday.

Taking advantage of Democratic absences, including that of Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson who was in Texas, GOP senators forced postponement until April 14 of further consideration of the bill. The 41-39 delaying vote was almost entirely on party lines.

The measure would make available to communities one billion dollars in federal loans for a wide variety of local projects such as hospitals, streets and sewers.

In a move of its own, the administration announced today a speed-up in federal aid grants for similar projects under an existing program operated by the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

The department said it was in creasing from 70 million to nearly 800 million dollars the amount of federal grants to be made available before June 30 for construction of medical research facilities, hospitals and municipal waste treatment plants.

One of the President's chief advisers said the administration fears too much new spending, coupled with a tax cut, would lead to a federal deficit of 10-15 billion dollars next year.

This official forecast "several" major vetoes by the President if the Democratic-led Congress pushes through big-spending programs deemed too far-reaching.

Agreement On Highways
There was no indication the go-slow drive would be applied to the $3,500,000,000 highway bill on which House and Senate negotiators reached agreement late yesterday, he measure passed the Senate with a heavy bipartisan majority.

Judge Ted Goldman who presides over Traffic Court in Texarkana received honorable mention award from the American Bar Association. This was the only court in Arkansas so honored. Only 41 such awards were given in the United States.
